

Carey Goryl, MSW, CAE, International Association of Forensic Nurses (IAFN)

Carey Goryl, MSW, CAE serves as the Chief Executive Officer of the International Association of Forensic Nurses, a professional membership association with over 3,000 domestic and international forensic nurse members. She began at IAFN in 2005 and led the Association's transition to self-management, which included opening a new office and hiring a full complement of staff. Currently, Goryl directs all Association operations, including oversight of a ten-person staff and a $2.5 million budget. Goryl has served a term as a state commissioner on the Maryland Commission for Women, and serves as Secretary for the Maryland Coalition Against Sexual Assault Board of Directors. In her free time (which is hard to come by), Carey loves to salsa dance and drum on her African Djembe drum but only after spending time with her two small kids, Nadia and Carson, and Jason her spouse.
